

Victorian Lady
Photographs by Joe Lipka

A Chance Meeting: The Victorian Lady

It was a cold, crisp winter day. The sun was low in the sky and the shadows were long. I drove down Academy Street past a cottage I photographed more than twenty five years ago. The light was so beautiful I decided to dash the day's plans and return to photograph. There was no preparation and no grand plan for the day. The light was beautiful and this little cottage all but begged me to make her portrait.

She remembered our encounter from decades ago and wanted to catch up on old times. We both changed since that first encounter. It was time get reacquainted.

On a winter day the sun cast its light in a special way on a certain place.

A special opportunity was placed before me.

The photography begins.

*Winter Door , 1987,
Our first meeting*

Colophon

Victorian Lady

Photographs by Joe Lipka

The images in this portfolio were made in January 2014
in Cary, North Carolina

Myriad Pro is the font used for the text.

© 2015 Joe Lipka Photography

Web site: www.joelipkaphoto.com

Blog: <http://blog.joelipkaphoto.com/>

The contents of this computer media are copyrighted materials

Please note that this computer file has been provided as a consumer product for the private and non-commercial use of the purchaser only. Its' contents are copyrighted in its entirety and may not be duplicated by any means. Each article, portfolio and photographic image is copyrighted by the author and may not be duplicated for any purpose or by any means without his consent.